Jan. 2021 Report to BoCC

Senate Bill 13:

This bill was discussed at the monthly appraisers Orion conference call. It was the consciences that the verbiage in the bill would not affect the appraisal process and will not change the way appraisals are done, as long as the wording does not change in Section 2. The wording “solely as a result of normal repair, replacement or maintenance”, will not be limiting to appraisers for the simple fact that values of properties are never set for a “solely” (only one) reason. The existence of the different methods for establishing values assures this. It was also discussed that if the verbiage was changed and the word “solely” was stricken from the bill, it would more than likely result in court cases as the bill would be contradictory to the State Constitution.

In the bill the definition of “new construction” considers “remodeling or renovation of existing structure” to be “new construction”. The terms remodeling and renovation are not further defined to specific types of improvements. Harper County has and will continue to determine what constitutes normal repair, replacement or maintenance verses remodeling and renovations.

Appraisal:

Personal property renditions were mailed out on Jan. 13th. The responsibility for accurately and timely reporting of personal property rests on the owners. Harper County sends these renditions out as a courtesy reminder to owners. It also aids the owners in establishing what has been reported to the county and any property they may need to report that they have required in the past year. Staff is working on processing these renditions as they are returned and updating CIC.

The majority of real estate property values have been set for 2021. Grain elevators and affordable housing are the parcels that have not been set yet. These types of properties are valued using State prescribed guides and worksheets. While I have had these completed since late December the State has issued an email that there was an issue with some those worksheets. The new worksheets are out and I should have them completed no later then next week and the values set on the related parcels.

Payment under protest (PUP) hearing have been scheduled and completed, with one lone exception. Protests were minimal this year. We held 13 real property hearing and 1 personal property.

Harper County has met all state compliance guidelines with the next one being the publishing of our Market Trend. This report has to be published in the newspaper and website 10 business days before the mailing of Change of Value Notices (CVN's), which are to be mailed to property owners on or before March 1st. Once CVN's are mailed this starts the Informal Appeal process, in which property owners have 30 days to protest the value of their properties.

Over the next few weeks staff will be performing quality control quires which entails a large number of reports to analyze to eliminate errors before values are sent out.

Zoning:

We have received several calls from construction companies working on bids for Flat Ridge 4 Wind Farm concerning permitting they may need for their projects.

Permits are expected to increase with the implementation of the housing rehab program.

GIS:

We are still experiencing issues with getting current information posted to the GIS web site relating to Tax information. We do think that the issue we were seeing with parcel information concerning splits and combination not appearing has been resolved.

Environmental:

One soil profile completed
